Suffield Academy Students Present On April 24th 7:00-8:00pm at Suffield's Senior Center

How can we imagine daily life in Suffield during WWI? Suffield Academy's American Studies students investigated Suffield's wartime home front this winter and networked with other Connecticut historians to discover original history about Suffield. Please join us and learn from this multi-media presentation about life in Suffield one hundred years ago and appreciate how this global event propelled our community into the modern era.

Suffield Academy students will present during the April meeting of the Suffield Historical Society. All Society meetings are open to the public, and newcomers are most welcome. Residents with questions should email Bill Sullivan at bsullivan@suffieldacademy.org.
